Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I strongly support the government in the anti-trust trial. Companies in the past were broken and yet Microsoft wants to get away with a mere billion dollars. Hit Microsoft hard where it really counts: in the bank. Force Microsoft to pay 50 billion dollars (their quarterly revenue) over a year for schools to buy any technologies and forbid any agreements between Microsoft and PC manufacturers to bundle an OS with a computer. I scoff at any settlement that will not change Microsoft deposition towards consumers and competition.

Warm regards,
Jeremiah Cohick
